I have enjoyed reading Dr. Winkel's fine translation as much as I have reading the original Arabic text, and I have no doubt that a work such as this conveys the flavor and sense of Ibn 'Arabi's grand vision, which was given to him as a gift from God.

A new period of Ibn 'Arabi studies is opening up in the world with this translation of his major work, the most important source ever produced, in my opinion, for the study of the sciences of Sufism, a universal and everlasting reference point for those who explore their inner experiences in search of the meaning of Reality.
